

The White Cliffs of “Rover”

ESP_050282_1820

Dunes visible below the cliff, give the impression of an ocean surface, complete with foam capped waves crashing against the “shore line”; demonstrating the abstract similarity between the nature of a turbulent ocean and a Martian dune field.

