

Once in a Blue Dune

ESP_053894_2295

HIRISE
HIGH RESOLUTION IMAGING
SCIENCE EXPERIMENT
UAHIRISE.ORG

Just to the south of a group of barchan dunes here in Lyot Crater is one large dune with a more complex structure. This particular dune, appearing like turquoise blue in enhanced color, is made of finer material and/or has a different composition than the surroundings. (306 km above the surface and less than 1 km across.)

LPL
Lunar & Planetary Laboratory

