

HIGH RESOLUTION IMAGING
SCIENCE EXPERIMENT

UAHIRISE.ORG

Lunar and Planetary Laboratory

Uplifted Jumble of Ancient Bedrock

uahirise.org/ESP_025296_1535

Impact craters larger than a certain size have complex forms, including central peaks or other structures that result from structural uplift of the target material. This provides a mechanism for exposing deep, ancient bedrock. The bedrock here includes massive, layered, and broken-up (brecciated) areas.