

Colorful Uplifted Rocks

Central peaks on Mars have some of the most diverse and distinctive rock types. These rocks are generally massive or jumbled, and do not show regular layers like lava flows or water-lain sediments.