

Beautiful Layers in the Central Uplift of Mazamba Crater

Scientists believe this layered material originates from kilometers beneath the present surface and is raised up during the formation of the crater itself.