

Sinuuous Ridges and Meanders

These ridges are thought to be old river channels, but wind erosion has created inverted topography. What was once low (the channel bottoms) was more resistant to erosion, so now it is relatively high.