

Ring of Cratered Cones

In the center of this observation, we see a ring of cones that have developed over a crater rim. Lava appears to have deflated around and within the ring. Interestingly, the area around the ring has few cones: did water or steam flow to the crater and make that zone less fertile?