

Spring in Inca City III

In Inca City another week has passed, and there are a few more fans on the ridge. We see how the number of fans and blotches depends on the thickness of the ice layer and how high the sun is in the sky.