

The Color Wonderland of Mawrth Vallis

Mawrth Vallis has some of the most spectacular color variations seen anywhere on Mars. This color variability is due to a range of hydrated minerals--water caused alteration of these ancient deposits--which is why this site is of interest to study the past habitability of Mars.