

A Highly Disrupted Crater

This 2.5-kilometer diameter crater has been significantly altered from the usual bowl-shaped appearance we associate with craters. Material has covered significant portions of the ejecta and filled in the crater. This fill material has since been subject to erosion.

uahirise.org/ESP_051147_1830

