

Bedrock on a Crater Floor

This enhanced color image shows eroded bedrock on the floor of a large ancient crater. The colors come from the infrared-red-blue filter, which we normally cannot see with the naked eye. (256 km above the surface, and the scene is less than 1 km across.)

uahirise.org/ESP_054644_1555

