

COLORFUL BEDROCK IN A NORTHERN PLAINS CRATER

Dark, undulating dunes sit atop a colorful surface of exposed bedrock. Based on the crater's 25-km diameter, these rocks may have been previously buried over a mile beneath the surface.