

SOUTHERN SPRING ON KAISER CRATER DUNES

The dunes are made of dark sand, showing through where the dry ice has sublimated in the spring sun. The fine scale structure of the ripples on the dunes shows up highlighted by the presence or absence of the ice, and the low angle of the sun on the slope.