

CYCLIC BEDDING IN FIRSOFF CRATER

The rock layers are thought to be evidence of cyclic deposition, caused by changes in the orbit of Mars. The changes in the climate are imprinted into the rock record as different layers either because the rocks were cemented together differently in various eras and/or a difference in the grain size of material that was available at the time.

LPL

HIRISE

uahirise.org/ESP\_085216\_1830