

UNUSUAL CRATER TEXTURE

Here we see the folded appearance of material at the bottom of an impact crater in Terra Cimmeria on Mars. Some ice-rich deposits within craters can have lines at the surface. Perhaps this crater interior is showing some remains of an older, more extensive icy layer in the region?

LPL

HIRISE

uahirise.org/ESP_090326_1435