

RHYTHMIC LAYERING IN ARABIA TERRA

The Arabia Terra region on Mars has light-toned layered deposits exposed within larger impact craters that preserve a record of the planet's ancient climate. This HiRISE image shows layers with similar characteristics, such as thickness and brightness, suggesting the deposits are composed of the same materials.

LPL

HiRISE

uahirise.org/ESP_092890_1825