

Isidis Basin Ejecta

ESP_011261_1960

This scene is a jumbled mess! There are blocks and smears of many different rocks types that appear to have been dumped into a pile. That’s probably about what happened, as ejecta from the Isidis impact basin to the east. This pile of old rocks is an island surrounded by younger lava flows from Syrtis Major.

