

Meanders in Ridge Form in the Zephyria Region

ESP_024695_1745

In this image, an ancient sinuous meandering river system is surrounded by features called "yardangs." The yardangs are the ridge-like landforms that align approximately north-south. These features were created as the wind scoured and eroded the bedrock. .