

Cratered Cones in Tartarus Montes

ESP_033252_2070

Many types of crater exist on Mars. Most are generated by impacts of asteroids and comets. In this area though we think these craters may be due to steam explosions. This happens on the Earth when hot lava runs over icy ground.