

High-Altitude Clouds on Mars

ESP_034342_1315

HIGH RESOLUTION IMAGING
SCIENCE EXPERIMENT
UAHIRISE.ORG

The standard color images for this observation look really weird, because what we're seeing are thin condensate clouds moving relative to surface features. From measurements, their heights must be approximately 42 kilometers. Previous imaging experiments have measured Martian clouds up to 80 kilometers in height.