

Pits and Channels of Hebrus Valles

ESP_048036_2025

Hebrus Valles is located in the plains of the Northern lowlands, just west of the Elysium volcanic region. Individual channels range from several hundred meters to several kilometers wide and form multi-threaded patterns. The channels seemingly terminate in an elongated pit that is approximately 1875 meters long and 1125 meters wide, and nearly 500 meters deep.
