

Unlocking an Impact Crater’s Clues

ESP_048456_1640

This new crater, which formed explosively at the point of impact, has a diameter of roughly 8 meters, but its surrounding blast zone and ejecta extend over a kilometer beyond the crater itself. The materials exposed nearest the crater have distinctive yellowish and lighter grey appearances, while more distant ejected materials range from dark brown to bright bluish.

