

Layered Mantling Deposits in the Northern Mid-Latitudes

ESP_048897_2125

These deposits accumulate over cycles in layers, and here in the southern mid-latitudes, where the deposits have mostly eroded away due to warmer temperatures, small patches of the remnant layered deposits can still be observed.

