

A Sneak Peek into Saheki's Secret Layers

ESP_049172_1585

Saheki Crater is large, about 84 kilometers across, and located in the Southern highlands of Mars, to the north of Hellas Planitia. Exposed along the crater's interior walls [\[link to subframe image\]](#), we can see that the fan is made up of multiple individual layers (white and purple tones in the enhanced color image) that were deposited on the floor.

