

Bedrock on the Floor of Kaiser Crater

ESP_058616_1330

HiRISE has often imaged inside Kaiser Crater to monitor active sand dunes and gullies. Surrounding these dunes, we often find clean bedrock exposures, because the actively moving sand clears off the dust. (NASA/JPL/University of Arizona, less than 1 km across.)

