

WHERE THE WIND BLOWS

Scientists study dunes because their shape and size can give us valuable information about the wind directions and speeds in current and past climates on Mars.

HIRISE

uahirise.org/ESP_063901_1710