

AN ACTIVE GULLY IN MATARA CRATER

Gullies in the sand dunes of Matara Crater are very active. One large gully in particular has had major changes in every Martian winter since HiRISE began monitoring, triggered by the seasonal dry ice frost that accumulates each year.

HIRISE

uahirise.org/ESP_063969_1300