

A NEW IMPACT CRATER WITH BRIGHT EJECTA

Fresh impact sites are discovered as new dark spots from removal or disturbance of bright dust, but a few show up as new bright spots. These craters may have bright ejecta from exposure of shallow subsurface materials, below a thin dark cover.