

WHEN DID THE LIGHT-TONED LAYERS FORM?

Determining when the light-toned layered deposits formed is important for understanding the geologic history of Valles Marineris, especially because these deposits are hydrated and most likely formed in the presence of liquid water.

HIRISE

uahirise.org/ESP_070107_1750