

UNUSUAL CRATER TEXTURE

Here we see the folded appearance of material at the bottom of a crater. Some ice-rich deposits within craters can have lines at the surface. Perhaps this crater interior is showing some remains of an older, more extensive icy layer in the region?

A | LPL

HIRISE

uahirise.org/ESP_090326_1435