

AN IMPACT STRUCTURE IN BRAIN TERRAIN

This crater appears to be superimposed over and is younger than the brain terrain, or maybe it is older and its presence inhibited later formation of brain terrain. This kind of ambiguity makes it difficult to place age constraints on geologic activity using the statistics of impact craters.

 LPL
HIRISE

uahirise.org/ESP_080792_2210